Wage Control Plan Is Being Drafted by President, Report

Senate Nears Vote on Providing Funds for Henderson Today

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—The senate passed and returned to the house today a $1,857,000,000 supplemental appropriation bill. It carries $125,000,000 for the Office Price Administration.

Although the OPA appropriation was increased $50,000,000 above the sum voted by the house, it still was $15,000,000 short of administrator Leon Henderson's "rock bottom" estimate of needs and contained a restriction against use of any of the money for subsidy payments.

A series of compromises arranged yesterday, however, deleted a proposal for senate confirmation of all OPA employees paid more than $4,500 a year and softened the procedure for establishing price ceilings on goods processed from farm products.

The measure was passed after the senate had shouted down a proposal by Senator Clark (D-Mo) to eliminate a provision preventing the OPA from receiving additional money from the president's emergency funds or other sources.

Previously, Vice President Wallace cast the deciding vote when the chamber voted 31 to 30 against requiring confirmation of all future appointees in the Office of Civilian Defense drawing $4,500 higher yearly pay.

The amendment, which had the support of Democratic Leader Arkey (Ky) and Senator McCellar (D-Tenn), floor manager of the appropriations measure, was solidly opposed by 20 Republicans who cast their votes in the call. Nine Democrats and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) also voted against it, besides the vice president, while 30 Democrats supported the proposal.

Talk Wage Control

Threatened with a partial collapse of the price control system, the administration was reported today to be preparing a request for new legislation built around a form of wage stabilization.

President Roosevelt had discussed the situation with congressional leaders several times in recent weeks. Informed congressmen who declined quotation by name said a president was about ready to take known the remedial steps he believed price control officials believe could be taken.

As a result, members of congress who had been looking forward to a recess of several weeks were told quietly that they might have to revise their plans.

Rising farm prices, which have not yet reached the statutory ceiling in the basic price control act, already have caused Leon Henderson, price administrator, to raise the ceiling on canned and dried fruits. Sporadic increases in wages, the cost of raw products and other miscellaneous costs such as transportation, have made an extremely tight situation with reference to many other ceilings, a congressional source said.

Henderson told a house committee yesterday that the price control program was in danger of breaking down and that wage

The War Today!

Bad as the Russian military position is—and the danger of a Nazi breakthrough on the southern front is grave—we have here a paradoxical case in which the great gains Hitler is making, coupled with their cost in blood and materiel, are likely to contribute heavily to his undoing, provided the allies can create a diversion by establishing that second front.

The Nazi leader's success depends upon blitzkrieg, that is, upon his ability to smash the Red army in the crucial approaches to the Caucasus in a short time. This is so for two reasons:

First, the Nazi lines of communication already are badly extended, and the further the invaders drive the more confused will become their already seriously complicated transport problem.

Second, the supreme effort Hitler is making for a quick killing is costing so many of his best troops, and wrecking so much equipment, that he cannot indefinitely stand the strain. He will have to slow down and in the not distant future he will be fit game for a smashing Russian counter-offensive.

In short, so long as the Bolsheviks can continue their present fierce resistance, and effect withdrawals to fresh positions without breaking their line, the territory which they abandon may prove to be the trap which will catch Hitler. He has achieved much already, but he has a long, hard road to travel. Stalingrad is close to 200 bloody miles further east; Astraghan is about double that distance.

The Nazi chief now is far in advance of the supply lines which he established during the winter, and he is up among the Russian wide-gauge railways over which

Explosion in Cincinnati Garage Kills Four Men, Injures Several

Cincinnati, July 16.—(AP)—Four men died, a fifth was injured critically and a dozen others suffered minor hurts shortly before midnight when gasoline from a sheared-off pump exploded and ripped walls from a three-story brick rent-a-car agency in downtown Cincinnati.

Among the dead was Police Sgt. Carl Hill, 36, who was summoned to the scene by a report of "gas fumes in a garage."

Scene of the blast was the Hodge Drive-It-Yourself Agency, two blocks from Central Fountain Square.

Fire Marshal Louis Schraffenberger listed the dead, besides

Sergeant Hill, as Albert Bass, 34, of Cincinnati, a customer; John Rehe, 49, of suburban Norwood, a Hodge company bookkeeper, and a man identified by company owner Herman H. Hodge as Perry Fell, an attendant.

Those hurt were, in the main, victims of glass and debris scattered over a three-block radius.

Fire Chief Barney J. Houston said an agency parking attendant probably set off the blast when, after backing a car into a gasoline pump, he threw an electric switch in an effort to stay the flow of fuel. The current arced and fumes ignited, Houston speculated.

Hodge said the building contained 40 trucks and automobiles.

Nazi Gain Foothold 20 Miles Inside Northern Caucasus — Ziller Voted Five Indictments Today

Confidence Games, Conspiracy Counts in Jury's True Bill

Central Illinois Politician Faces Trial in McLean County

Bloomington, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—Corrupt George W. Ziller was indicted five times today on allegations that he, through confidence games and conspiracy, unlawfully obtained money from workers at government ordnance plants.

Three indictments charged that Ziller, a politician who weighs 538 pounds, worked a confidence game on men who wanted trucking jobs at the Kankakee and Elwood ordnance plants.

The indictments said he obtained $300 from two men and $350 from another, "by pretending he did have power and authority to control the employment of trucks and truck drivers in connection with" the construction of the huge government-financed projects.

The other two indictments charged conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses.

Attorney General George F. Barrett, who took a leading part in the investigation of Ziller, was not in court when the indictments were returned by the McLean county grand jury.

Ziller and Zephia Gullion in one conspiracy indictment were charged with getting $25 each from Iroquois county residents who wanted jobs as laborers at the munitions plants south of Joliet.

That indictment, containing nine counts, did not identify the Iroquois county residents alleged to have dealt with the men.

The other conspiracy indictment charged that Ziller and Russell Brandt and John Meints, both of Weston, organized the Weston Democratic club last July so that dues of $25 a year could be collected from the members.

While the grand jury charged that the club existed only for the collection of dues, it did not allege that men who got ordnance plant jobs through Ziller were coerced into joining.

Circuit Judge William E. Radloff discharged the grand jury, which met only ten minutes this morning. It had been recalled in June to consider the charges raised by Barrett and others.

The indictments did not attempt to give a total of amounts allegedly collected by Ziller, who had contacts with Joliet unions and arranged for central Illinois men to become union members prior to ordnance plant employment.

Joseph A. Londrigan of Springfield, Ziller's attorney, said Ziller would come here later today or tomorrow to sign bond in open court.

Barrett's Staff Present

While Barrett wasn't present, his staff of attorneys and investigators was on hand to assist State's Attorney Clifford N. Coolidge.

Ziller has homes at Weston, a McLean county village, and at Springfield.

Gullion was a "dark horse" in the case, since his name had not figured in earlier speculation. The indictment charged that he was a former resident of McLean county.

Coolidge described Gullion as a resident of Waukegan, Iroquois county, who is now employed in one of the ordnance plants near Joliet. He indicated that the state would endeavor to show that the $25 collected from Iroquois county residents was in the form of dues for the Weston Democratic club.

Brandt was secretary and Meints vice president of the Democratic club.

In the confidence game indictments, Ziller was alleged to have obtained $300 each from Emil Borchers of Gibson City and Jess Newkirk of Chenango and $350 from Maurice Smith of Gibson City.

Borchers, Newkirk and Smith,

Sec. Stimson Sees Lower Draft Age

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson expressed his belief today that young married men and youths of 18 to 20 would have to be drafted for the armed forces before a victory over the axis is won.

Asked at his press conference whether the war department still believed these men would be needed for the Army, Stimson replied that "we have never had a great war in which we did not find it necessary to call up both these classes."

He reminded reporters that some young married men already were being drafted under the selective service law, and said also he believed it would be necessary eventually to lower the draft age to 18.

"However," he said, "young men in that group should not feel it necessary to alter their plans for the immediate future."

Axis U-Boats Sink Two More Ships in West Atlantic

(By The Associated Press)

The axis U-boat campaign in the western Atlantic added two more ship victims to its long list as the Navy announced today the sinking of two medium-sized United States merchant vessels, one in the Atlantic off the coast of South America, the other in the Gulf of Mexico.

The sinkings brought the unofficial Associated Press compilation of allied and neutral wartime ship losses to 375 since Pearl Harbor. The Navy said that 27 men of the 42-man crew aboard the ship sunk in the Gulf July 9 perished, the remainder of the crew reaching a Gulf coast port safely. Forty-eight survivors of the merchantman sunk in the Caribbean late the night of June 20 put in at an east coast port, with only the radio operator, whose name was not known at the port, missing.

Two torpedoes crashed into the port side of the vessel sunk in the Gulf while it was lying blacked out close to shore on a moonless night. Five men were on lookout, and the enemy sub neither surfaced nor shelled the ship, survivors who landed at Gulf coast port said.

In the Atlantic sinking on June 20, something jammed against the ship's whistle causing her to go down with an eerie shriek of farewell.

Without Warning

A torpedo struck at 10:20 p. m., the skipper said, and added that the vessel sank within 12 minutes.

Capt. Peter Winsens said there was no warning of the attack and the submarine surfaced and played a searchlight on the lifeboats, but did not communicate with the survivors. He and 13 others went 330 miles in five days.

All but nine of a total of 381 passengers and crewmen aboard a torpedoed American merchantman survived the sinking of the ship two weeks ago despite the fact it foundered so rapidly they literally stepped over the side into the sea.

This sinking, involving the largest number of persons on any vessel known to have been sunk in the western Atlantic since the submarine campaign began there, was one of four attacks announced by the Navy yesterday.

Fifty-one of the 372 survivors of this ship were injured. Their vessel went down within four minutes after the torpedo struck.

Passengers landed at an east coast port said they owed their lives to the bravery and efficiency of the crew of 48 which helped them debark with a minimum of confusion while the ship was going down 400 miles off the coast.

South Dakota to Use Ill. Electric Chair

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 16.—(AP)—Warden G. Norton Jameson was back home today, "practically assured" that Illinois' electric chair could be used for execution of two condemned men in the South Dakota penitentiary.

"Only a few details remain to be ironed out before we can be definitely sure their equipment will fit what we have," he said.

Jameson, turned down by the War Production Board in Washington on materials to construct a chair here, visited the state penitentiaries of Vermont and Indiana before calling at the state institution at Joliet, Ill.

The first scheduled electrocution is that of Clifford Hayes, the week of Aug. 9, for murder.

Volunteers Wanted to Help Rationing Board

Mayor William V. Slothover today called for women volunteers to assist the local rationing board during the week starting next Monday with the rationing of sugar for fall canning.

The work will be done at the city hall, where applicants for canning sugar are expected to apply and the board cannot give the prompt service it desires to the applicants without volunteer help. Women who are willing to give one or more days, or whatever time they can spare, are asked to phone the city clerk, No. 97. Volunteers should act at once as the applications start next Monday.

TANK CARS DERAILED

Marion, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—The wreckage of 24 tank cars derailed Tuesday night six miles south of here was cleared from the Chicago & Eastern Illinois right-of-way today and officials of the railroad said traffic would be restored at noon. Four cars of oil were destroyed by fire that burned until late yesterday.

21-Year-Old Coast Guardsman Set FBI on Search for Spies

Official Narrative of Discovery of Ring of Saboteurs Given

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—The military commission trying eight Nazi saboteurs devoted this morning's session to hearing read documents already in evidence.

A communique said:

"The commission convened one-half hour earlier than usual, today, at 9:30 a. m.

"The morning session was consumed with the reading to the commission of documents already in evidence.

"It is anticipated that the reading will continue throughout the afternoon session."

It was a 21-year-old coast guardsman who set the FBI on a successful hunt for eight Nazi saboteurs after their landing on the American coast from submarines.

Spotting the fog-veiled arrival of one group on Long Island, John C. Cullen, seaman second class, outwitted them with pretended acceptance of a bribe and then spread the alarm which brought discovery of the Nazis and their hidden supplies.

The coast guard's official narrative of Cullen's night encounter was told by the Office of War Information yesterday as the Nazis, on trial for their lives, were confronted with "a very long statement" made by one of them to their captors.

While the prisoner whose statement was read to the military commission was not identified, there has been speculation that it was George John Dasch, only one of the eight who is represented by a special defense counsel.

Promotion Is Reward

Meantime, Vice Admiral R. R. Waesche, Coast Guard Commandant, promoted Cullen to coxswain and commended him for his alertness which led to arrest of the remaining four Nazis who, in another submarine landing, reached the Florida coast.

The coast guard related that Cullen stumbled upon the Nazi arrival from a submarine off Amagansett Beach, Long Island, shortly after he left his station for a

Supervisors' Act Is Misconstrued

Owners of lands now a part of the Green River ordnance area south of Dixon have misconstrued the action of the Lee county board of supervisors at the regular July meeting last week, in which the board members unanimously adopted a resolution which provided that the acreage be excluded from 1942 taxes. This was announced by Chairman John S. Archer of the Lee county board of review today.

The adoption of the resolution, it was explained, was in no way binding upon the future action of the board of review, but was the expression of opinion of the supervisors, who voted unanimously for its adoption. The board of review members have interviewed several owners of land which were taken over in the defense area and at present the review board is undetermined in its future action, it was stated.

Chairman Archer stated that a test case has been filed in the federal district court at Freeport, which will doubtless decide the action to be taken generally. However, it was explained, the present review board may not act on the subject of collection of 1942 taxes on lands within the area, as its duties will conclude about Sept. 1st and the test case now on file may not be acted upon and a decision rendered before late in August.

Pair of Crutches at Texas Altar Mute Evidence of Modern Miracle

El Paso, Texas, July 16.—(AP)—A pair of crutches rest before the altar in the Chapel of the Santuario de Christo Rey.

White-haired Maria C. Garcia, 60, said that until a week ago she was unable to walk without them or to talk coherently as the result of a fall in June of 1941.

On July 8, she related, she entered the chapel to receive communion.

As awed communicants looked on, she discarded the crutches and knelt before the altar. The semiparalyzed side of her face relaxed, and she said distinctly, "Praised Be the Holy Sacrament."

Vichy Protests U. S. Giving Help to "Fighting French"

Vichy, July 16.—(AP)—The Vichy government protested today the United States' having sent military representatives to the national committee of General Charles de Gaulle.

The protest was announced pending publication of the French stand regarding the French warships interned at Alexandria, which was understood to reject all proposals to move them elsewhere than to French territory, on grounds that to do so would not conform with French-German armistice clauses.

The government said officially U. S. assignment of military representatives to Gen. de Gaulle "constitutes an attack on the sovereignty of France."

Called "Inadmissible"

An authorized source declared it was "inadmissible" that the American government, "which is maintaining normal relations with the French government, also maintain relations with a rebel force."

(The United States Department of State announced July 9 that Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte had been assigned to consult in London with the national committee of the Fighting French headed by General de Gaulle "on all matters relating to the conduct of the war.")

(The announcement and an accompanying memorandum stressed that the purpose was to strengthen military aid to the

Confiscated

San Francisco, July 16.—(AP)—"The government confiscated my father's breakfast," remarked the Marine Corps major.

"I had just doctored from the tropics bringing dad a package of mangoes. He loves 'em," he explained to friends. "But the plant quarantine said dad had to eat something else because the mangoes were infected with Mediterranean fruit fly."

The friends made noises indicating sympathy.

A stranger nearby said: "Who's the Marine?"

"Major James Roosevelt, son of the president!"

Woman Shoots Man in "Noise" Argument

San Francisco, July 16.—(AP)—A 68-year-old woman was held on a murder charge today accused of shooting Lucien Doyen, 38, as the climax to a long-standing argument over noise the Doyen children made in the downstairs flat.

Police Inspectors Frank Ahearn and Al Corrasa said the woman, Mrs. Mary Slater, had confessed the shooting but insisted that Doyen had goaded her by constant insults.

They said Doyen, an employee of the Southern Pacific hospital and the father of three girls, died shortly after a bullet from the woman's .25 caliber pistol pierced his chest.

Officers said Mrs. Slater complained about the noise the Doyen children were making, and turned on her radio loudly and stomped on the floor when they failed to stop. Doyen then went upstairs to protest and was shot.

Russians Concede Nazi Penetration in Sanguinary Struggle

Front in Western Europe in Time to Save Reds May Not Be Possible

BY CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor

A German foothold some 20 miles inside the northern Caucasus and another on the northernmost rim were officially conceded today by the Russians while the sanguinary struggle for Voronezh on the north flank of the enemy's menacing bulge along the Don river attained a new degree of ferocity.

An informed British source said it was evident that Germany was throwing her full weight into the present offensive before Britain and the United States can invade Europe.

Even so, he said, the allies are not likely to be able to form a second front in time to relieve the pressure on the Red armies now or later this summer.

In the battle of Egypt, the western world's other active war theater, axis troops had forced some rectification of their position before El Alamein, "partially" reestablishing themselves on a coastal height, the Hill of Jesus, as the British reported it.

The African conflict, however, still played second fiddle to that in Russia.

Since launching their latest all-out effort in Russia on June 23, the Germans have won effective control of an additional 25,000 square miles of Russian territory—somehow more than the area of West Virginia—although not all Russian forces therein have been mopped up.

Pressing behind two spearheads eastward from this bulge, the Germans threaten to crash on through to the Stalingrad elbow of the Volga river, less than 200 miles away, effectively splitting the Caucasus and easing the way for direct penetrations of the oil-bearing region farther south.

Reds Admit Losses

There were the implications of the Russian communique admitting loss of Boguchar, just outside the North Caucasian Territory, and Millerovo, 75 miles farther south and inside the territory, on the direct line of rail communications between Moscow and Rostov.

The North Caucasus is one of Russia's principal agricultural regions.

If repeated axis reports are correct, the German advance through Boguchar has carried well beyond to the southeast. These advances last located the point of this spearhead at Migulinsk, 160 miles northwest of Stalingrad, industrial capital of the lower Volga.

The Russians have acknowledged fighting southeast of Boguchar and in reporting loss of Millerovo admitted that fighting there had carried to the southeast. Millerovo, a link between Russia's northern and southern Caucasian armies, is 175 miles west of Stalingrad.

German Air Raiders Over East Midlands

London, July 16.—(AP)—German raiders attacking in the east Midlands this morning machine-gunned men and women going to work and bombed one town, causing fires and some property damage.

Informed British said bad flying weather over the continent kept the RAF from raiding Germany last night for the second night in succession.

Two hundred fighters yesterday and early last night, however, made ground-hugging attacks along 200 miles of the French coast, blazing with machine-guns and cannon at troops, freight cars, gas works, wireless stations and anti-aircraft batteries.

War Production and Electric Power in Northern Illinois

Within a short space of time northern Illinois has become a great center of war production; turning out tanks, tractors, trucks, guns, ships and airplane engines as well as tons of steel for thousands of war uses on the land, on the sea and in the air.

In the manufacture of all these war materials and equipment, electric power is essential. It is our job, above all else, to supply power to these industries making the implements needed by our armed forces.

Surprisingly Large Number of Autos Are Beyond Age Limit

Three Out of Every Ten Cars Ten Years Old or More April 1

"Reports of the condition of cars in all parts of the country reveal that a surprisingly large number have passed what generally is considered the age limit—9 years," says a bulletin from the Rubber Committee of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

"According to studies made by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, approximately three out of every ten cars were ten years old or more at the time of the last census, April 1, 1940," the report states.

"Other studies made by other research groups and covering a period show that on July 1, 1941, about 4,500,000 automobiles were more than ten years old, while 7,000,000, all told, were nine years old or over. This means that something like a third of all automobiles on farms were over-age and about one-fourth of all the cars in the entire country were of the vintage of the early '30s."

"These studies suggest a very serious situation," the NADA Rubber Committee report goes on to say, "because any drastic impairment of farm transportation will have a direct bearing on the nation's food supply. Also the fact would be borne in mind that these figures do not take into consideration the precarious tire situation. Manifestly, where there are so many over-age cars in the country, the tire situation must be as bad or even worse, for, as everyone knows, car-life is generally much longer than tire-life."

Two Fundamental Facts

"There are two fundamental facts upon which the owners of automobiles can place reliance. One is that as things now stand, no matter how much synthetic rubber is made available, it will be of no help in supplying tires unless a certain amount of natural rubber can be used as cement for reads in recapping. Experts declare that approximately two ounces of natural rubber will hold reads on a six-inch tire. The reads can be made either of synthetic rubber or reclaim.

"The second point is that in view of the limited amount of real rubber available and the heavy demands of the army and navy, as well as keeping some 20,000,000 cars running to perform the necessary functions of local transportation, it will become increasingly essential that drivers be careful how they use their tires. Much has been said on this point and many drivers still seem not to have taken the facts home to themselves.

"Every car owner should treat his car and his tires on the assumption that most likely it will be a very long time before he can get any more. We believe that one practical way of helping the situation is to have expert tire inspections every 1,000 miles. Also, every car should be kept in a constant state of repair. These precautions, in addition to careful driving, will go a long way toward helping all interests concerned in connection with the present acute motor transportation situation."

Predicts Arthritis Will Become a Minor Ailment in 25 Years

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Arthritis, for which many believe there is no cure, will be relegated within 25 years to the role of a minor health problem, Dr. E. C. Andrews of the Ottawa, Ill., General Hospital and Arthritis Sanatorium predicted today.

In an address prepared for delivery at the American Osteopathic Association convention, Dr. Andrews said the time to treat arthritis was before deformity or stiffening of joints occurred, which could be done if the diagnosis was thorough and correct. He continued:

"But it does no good to treat merely the symptoms and ignore the cause, which is not infection to the extent that many still believe, but deficiencies in the blood stream and poor circulation resulting from a breakdown of the junctions of the glands and organs. The origin of the breakdown may be traced to an inherited tendency or to nutritional disturbances."

530 Tons of Street Car Rails in Salvage

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Illinois WPA workers have dug up 530 tons of abandoned street car rails to help the national scrap metal salvage program.

In addition, Charles P. Casey, state administrator, said yesterday, 504 tons of scrap metal has been collected from farms in a rural salvage program. A substantial part of this amount was donated by patriotic farmers, he said.

Australian Nurse's Theory on Polio is Given Confirmation

Doctors Announce Proof of Muscle Spasms in Paralysis Victims

Chicago, July 15—(AP)—The first verification of an Australian nurse's belief that muscle spasm is a damaging and ever present symptom of infantile paralysis was reported today in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

By making more than 500 graphic records of the electrical current produced by muscles in action, two physicians substantiated this part of the once unaccepted teachings of Miss Elizabeth Kenny.

The proof was announced by Dr. R. Plato Schwartz and Dr. Harry D. Bouman of the University of Rochester school of medicine and dentistry, Rochester, N. Y., whose study was sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Until recently, most physicians treated poliomyelitis in its acute stage by immobilization, using splints and other devices to prevent movement of arms, legs and other affected parts.

Instead, Miss Kenny's method is to apply heat and start passive exercise to the affected parts. The medical profession, after numerous good results from her method, now recognizes its value but there had been no previous laboratory evidence verifying that muscle spasm is an integral part of acute poliomyelitis.

Tested Seven Patients

Miss Kenny, who came to the United States to demonstrate her method, contended that the affected muscles in acute infantile paralysis were in spasm. Such spasms involve involuntary contractions of muscles, including twitchings, irritability to stretching and continuous contraction of some muscle fibers.

The physicians tested seven patients with acute poliomyelitis and found that spasm not only exists in the muscle opposite the muscle weakened by the disease (known as the antagonistic muscle), but also exists in the weakened muscle itself—and in muscles in parts of the body that showed no other evidence of the disease.

They emphasized that their tests certifying the presence of spasm did not show whether the spasticity caused weakening of the muscle or is merely another consequence of infantile paralysis.

Although methods of preventing the disease have not been discovered verification of the presence of spasm explained why the Kenny method results in the benefits that have been observed.

Princeton Service Co. Negotiating With Illinois CC

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission has approved new rates of the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Company which it estimated would save the company's customers in Rock Island, Moline and adjacent territory $66,569 annually.

The commission in its announcement last night said the new rates reflected the full amount of savings to customers resulting from a wholesale rate reduction to the company by the Natural Gas Pipeline Company.

Approval has been given to similar rate reductions of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, the Western United Gas & Electric Company and the Illinois Northern Utilities Company.

The reduction in wholesale rates charged the utilities by Natural Gas Pipeline Company was ordered by the U. S. Supreme court.

The commission, however, has declined to accept, without public hearings, rates proposed by the Kewanee Public Service company and the Peoples Gas Light & Coke company of Chicago, which reflected only half the savings. Another company involved, Princeton Gas Service Company, still is negotiating with the commission.

A hearing on the Peoples Gas case was scheduled for July 27.

Infant Mortality In Nazi-Occupied Lands Is Up 40 Pct

British Famine Relief Committee Reports on Its Recent Surveys

London, July 16—(AP)—A 40 per cent rise in infant mortality over normal in German-occupied Europe was reported today by the British Famine Relief Committee, a fact-finding organization of churches.

On the basis of first-hand reports, it likened the suffering from want of food in conquered and occupied areas as well as other embattled nations on the continent with the situation after four years of the first World war. There is increasing frequency of scurvy, rickets, anemia, dermatitis and eye infections, it said.

Here is a nation-by-nation resume of its reports.

Belgium:

"A special survey with respect to children attending school," the committee reported, "indicates that 63 per cent get no or scarcely any breakfast, 33.5 per cent get an inadequate noon meal and 56 per cent get insufficient supper."

It put the general death rate for adults and children so far this year at 21.5 per 1,000—compared with a normal 13—and added that "there is abundant reason to believe that the health of several generations may be irretrievably impaired."

France:

The committee quoted a Quaker report describing children with "distended stomachs and thin, spindly legs" and said the mortality rate in unoccupied France had risen 45 per cent. It cited the report of a French physician that the mortality of children up to nine years old in Nazi-occupied Paris had increased by 29 per cent.

Poland:

Instead of a daily 2,400 calories necessary to maintain a healthy existence, the committee said food rations allowed to Poles provided them with no more than 680 calories and allowances for Jews yielded only 400. Citing bread as a typical example of food discrimination, it said Germans get a weekly allowance of 4½ pounds, Poles 2½ and Jews 1.

Finland:

In eastern Karelia, the committee said, "70 per cent of the children under seven are dying of starvation". Its authority was John P. Thelen of the American Red Cross.

The Netherlands:

The committee said 20 to 25 per cent of the children living in towns were undernourished and the adult population was near starvation.

Greece:

Quoting what it called first hand reports, the committee said: "From August until the end of March 320,000 deaths were registered in Greece, exceeding over five times the normal death rate and being higher among infants. "On the other hand, births are being reduced to exceedingly low rates and of new-born children hardly any survive."

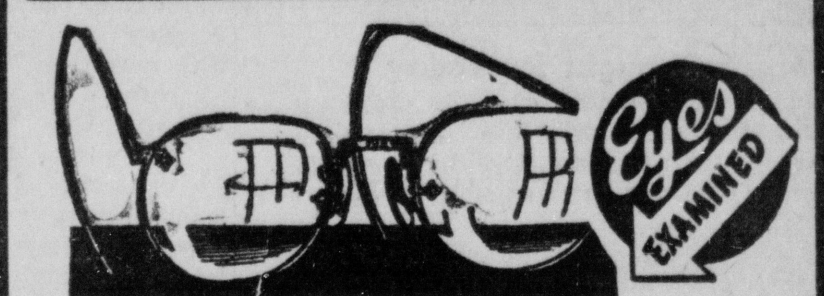

A new process has been developed to remove the odors from gasoline.

Errol Flynn, Star of Movies, in Collapse

Hollywood, July 16—(AP)—Errol Flynn, who looks rugged on the screen but whose studio says he isn't, was taken off the set today in a state of collapse.

His doctor diagnosed the trouble as fatigue and said he would make a further examination. Flynn has collapsed twice before in the past six weeks.

A Thought for Today

In the greatness of thine excellency thou hast overthrown them that rose up against thee: thou sentest forth thy wrath, which consumed them as stubble.—Exodus 15:7.

A great man is made up of qualities that meet or make great occasions.—Lowell.

Financing a War

Financial experts estimate, on the basis of current programs, that if this war lasts through the calendar year of 1944 it will have cost the United States 220 billion of dollars.

Add approximately 30 billions for "ordinary" expenses of government during the five-year period 1940-1944, and we will have expended a total of quarter of a trillion dollars in those five years.

Billions or trillions, they're all pretty much the same to most of us, to whom thousands or even hundreds come slowly enough. This might help:

If you had been alive 5500 years before the birth of Christ, five thousands years before the dawn of history, and if you had started counting dollar bills then as fast as a bank teller does; if you had counted night and day, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, you would just about now catch up with the dollars we are spending in this five-year period.

Apparently present tax plans will finance 90 billions of this vast program, leaving 160 billions to be borrowed. Add to that the 40 billions of national debt at the end of 1939, and we shall wind up the calendar year 1944 in debt to the tune of 200 billions of dollars.

The Treasury hopes to finance this war at a cost of 2½ per cent for interest, substantially less than we paid during World War I, and a very reasonable rate.

If peace came with New Year's of 1945, and brought with it a balanced budget, we should be faced with the necessity for raising, by taxation, every year, the sum of five billion dollars to pay interest on the public debt.

That five billions, which would not provide a dollar toward amortizing the public debt, is more than the United States had ever taken in from all revenue sources in any year except 1919, 1920 and 1921 up to 1937.

Even this huge sum is not all we shall have to raise. We must finance the ordinary operations of government, which even before the depression were hovering around four billions a year.

Nine billions, the sum of these two items, is more than our government has ever raised, up to 1942, from all revenue sources combined.

What is the moral? We have to spend the money, don't we?

Yes. So far as the war is concerned. But the next time somebody suggests trying to save a bit here and there on non-war costs, we might have in mind that the minimum of taxation after the war will be about half again as heavy as in 1941.

So don't shush him up. Lend him an ear.

Don't Throw It Away

The people of the nation, down to the last forgotten man, are being drafted for a war job to which every individual can contribute.

Beginning July 13, we were all asked to help with a renewed, expanded and intensified salvage campaign, designed to help make up deficiencies in raw materials.

There is nothing spectacular in the contribution we are asked to make thus to the war program; nothing dangerous; nothing arduous. In fact, there is nothing verging upon the sacrificial.

All the government asks is that we pick up things we do not use and do not need, but which war industry does need, and turn them over so they can be made into weapons and munitions for the use of our fathers or sons, our brothers or cousins or neighbors on the fighting fronts against Hitler and Hirohito.

Unlike some previous civilian war enterprises, this one is clean cut and crystal clear. Operating details may differ from city to city and town to town, but there is no question about what is wanted—or why.

Tin is needed, because our normal sources of tin have been cut off. Therefore residents in 36 selected communities are asked to save their tin cans, clean them and remove paper, cut off tops and bottoms, flatten them out, and leave them for the tin can collector.

From these cans the tin will be removed. The drive is limited to 36 centers because elsewhere there are no facilities for detinning the cans.

Scrap steel is needed, because without that we can not operate our vital steel-making plants to capacity and produce the maximum of metal for ships, tanks, guns, planes.

Rubber is needed for reclamation, to stretch the inadequate stockpile of virgin gum, both for direct military use and to help get war workers to and from their jobs.

Fats and greases are needed to stimulate production of glycerine, which in turn will be made into explosives.

Housewives are asked to save kitchen fats and sell them to local meat dealers, who will send them back through trade channels until, transformed, they get to Germany and Japan.

This salvage drive isn't a temporary, one-week spurt, says Lessing Rosenwald, its director.

It's something to be kept up day after day, week after week. But that doesn't mean it's something to be put off until tomorrow or next week.

The quicker our soldiers and sailors get armaments and munitions, the sooner we'll have them back home with us—and the more of them we'll get back.

Some folks drop in for a visit—others just visit for a drop.

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH

NEWS
THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, July 15.—The Russian method of meeting the blitz has always been to give ground until the attack is spent. Then the Reds customarily move in against the panting and exhausted foe with counter-attacks.

For this, and many other reasons, authorities have discounted the direct possibilities of recent news from Russia.

For instance, those two salients which the nazis first drove to the Don were narrow mechanized pushes. They were long slender fingers driven into the Russian position, not a complete wholesale advance on the 200-mile front.

It is true they cut the two railroads from Rostov to Moscow at Voronezh and Rossosh and thus succeeded in hindering communications between Timoshenko's southern army and the central army.

But these railroads have been used only for troops. Supplies have always gone from the north by a safer route, around through Stalingrad.

Furthermore, even if Stalingrad falls and the Volga is cut there the Russians would still have one rail line left to the Caucasus oil from Astrakhan straight north.

So while the two handiest troop railroads were cut at the outset of the drive, supplies were able to move to Timoshenko as usual, and his cause was not irreparably damaged.

Furthermore, the thin line of the German advance left Hitler the problem of protecting his flanks as he moved forward, and limited his operations.

At the two heads of the thin salients, Voronezh and Rossosh, his troops turned southward fighting their way down the railroads and the Don river.

The Russian defenses along the Don were seriously hampered by the winding nature of the river, and their inability to get back and forth across it. There are few bridges in that region, and the German attack swept down both banks of the river. In one big bend a very large Russian force was entrapped.

It was clear, also, that if his attack onward from Voronezh could reach the little railroad town of Povorino, it would present a much more serious threat to Timoshenko, for there his supply route running around through Stalingrad could be cut.

Furthermore, if the nazi thrust down the Don reached Stalingrad before it spent itself, the vital Volga oil and supply route would be gone and nothing would be left except the Astrakhan route. Even so, all would not necessarily be lost.

While the southern army would then be completely cut off, Russian fighting ability in such circumstances is widely respected.

A counterattack by the southern and central armies straight across Hitler's salient to join them again and leave his advance forces surrounded, would still be a possibility.

To win in Russia, Hitler must crush the Russian armies completely and cause them to sue for armistice. As was proved, to the surprise of the world, last year, advances in thin salients and captures of strategic towns do not necessarily bring decisive results. The fighting is not over, even when the objectives are reached.

No one knows or will even attempt to guess when the power of the German attack will diminish, whether at Lisichansk or Kantemirovka (two points at which it was headed down the railroads at this writing), or whether it will be able to go on to Stalingrad.

It must stop some day and when that day comes, better news from that front may start.

Little satisfaction can be derived from going on beyond these immediate nazi objectives to consider what will happen if they all go and Hitler starts the last lap of his drive for the real economic prize of this campaign, which is the Caucasus oil.

A supplemental attack from Taganrog on Rostov has been momentarily expected. This is the shortest route to that goal.

He will not hit oil until he gets to Krasnodar (it yields about 500,000 tons of oil a year) and Grozny. To reach these points he will have to cross wide prairies cut by sharp depressions and gulches, admirably suited for Russian defense.

The Russians well knew of Hitler's objectives last year, in time to accumulate huge oil stores to support their armies for an indefinite period in the north.

Thus, while the latest developments are grave, they have been subjected to over-exaggerated interpretations.

Deaths

JOHN R. BATTIN
Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 16.—(AP)—John R. Battin, 46, managing editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, died early today at Rochester, Minn., where he had undergone an operation June 27.

For a campaign against political graft and corruption in the state government in 1935, in which Battin played a prominent part, the Gazette was awarded a Pulitzer prize.

MRS. JENNIE GREENBLATT
(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, July 16.—Mrs. Jennie Greenblatt, 60, of 204 North First street, dropped dead from a heart attack in the Seibert grocery store, Third and Washington street, shortly after 5:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Private funeral services will be held at the McAllister-Julian funeral home, 304 North 57th street, Rockford, at 3 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Jewish cemetery.

Born in Russia, Mrs. Greenblatt had resided in the United States for 35 years and had made her home in Oregon for more than 20 years.

She is survived by three sons, Solie Greenblatt, Rockford, Sidney of San Diego, Calif., and Simon of Hollywood, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Oscar Levy residing in California and Mrs. Leury Holtzman of Chicago, and eight grandchildren. Her husband died two years ago.

Boy Scout News

Troop No. 85 of the Boy Scouts of America will meet this evening to complete plans for a short camp to be held next week. Any boy who becomes a member of the troop may participate in this camping trip. New boys may go along if they pass their tests for tenderfoot rank by Saturday night. The troop meets each Thursday evening at the Bethel U. E. church on North Galena avenue. New boys in town are welcome to join this troop. The Rev. R. S. Wilson, the pastor, is in charge of the troop and will supervise the camping program, with the assistance of members of the troop committee.

The troop expects to return to the same campsite as last year, located along the Elkhorn creek west of Penrose. Arrangements for the location have been made with Lewis Zigler, a resident of that section. The boys will leave Dixon on Monday morning and return on Wednesday afternoon.

Last week members of the troop enjoyed two opportunities for scouting experience. On Wednesday, July 8, a group of the boys went on an all day hike to Franklin creek. Transportation was furnished for part of the distance. Each of the boys cooked his own dinner. On Thursday evening in place of the regular scout meeting, the troop went by auto to visit the Scouts camped at Camp Lowden, and remained for the Call of the Arrow ceremony.

On Tuesday of this week, the scouts spent the third day in searching dumping grounds for scrap material to aid the war effort. A complete report of the amount found will be given later, as requested by the Dixon Salvage Committee.

Modified Embargo
on Shipping Wheat
Into Kansas City

Kansas City, July 16.—(AP)—Threat of a millers strike and lack of storage space prompted the Board of Trade to clamp a modified embargo on all shipments of wheat into Kansas City, the nation's largest winter wheat terminal.

The order, effective last midnight, requires a Board of Trade permit for every carload of wheat shipped here, whether for storage or for sale on the open market. It is the first such embargo ever ordered in Kansas City.

Storage shipments were restricted last year, but free wheat—that intended for sale on the open market—was not affected then.

A special committee of the Board of Trade will gauge the daily needs of the grain market and issue permits accordingly. Permits likely will be issued for around 200 cars daily, less than a fifth of the normal shipments for this time of the year.

Storage Spaces Filled
A huge carryover, 630,000 bushels for the nation, has filled up all of the storage space throughout the grain belt. Farmers are storing wheat in their living quarters, in automobiles, hotels and schools, and much of it is just piled up on the ground exposed to the weather.

Combined with the storage emergency, the grain industry received a threat of a strike by workers in seven Kansas City flour mills unless wages were increased. Howard L. Rizer, business agent for the Flour and Cereal Workers Union, said the union had rejected an offer of five cents an hour increase.

Neither the present scale nor the union's requested increase was disclosed. The union delayed action until tomorrow.

In Washington, the Association of American Railroads announced an embargo on movement of cash grain to Chicago and Kansas City markets "to prevent the use of box cars for warehouses."

The association said that under the embargo, no cash grain will be moved to Chicago or Kansas City without a permit from a committee representing the grain trade and cooperating with the department of agriculture and the railroads, unless the shipper can show the carrying railroad that it can be unloaded promptly.

BREADON PEDDLES
WARNEKE TO CUT DOWN ON PAYROLL

Samuel Breadon peddled Lon Warneke back to the Cubs to cut down the Cardinal payroll.

The Red Birds have an abundance of young pitchers, so Sam Breadon could afford to do this.

And the aging Warneke earned his keep in his first start at Wrigley Field, where the difference in attendance on that day alone more than covered the $7500 the Bruins gave for the right-hander and the $7000 in salary he will have to be paid for the remainder of the season.

The sale of Warneke doesn't mean the St. Louis club has given up in its chase after the highly-gaited Brooklyns. Not if you listen to Senor Mike Gonzales.

"Not us," says the veteran coach in his quaint speech. "Remember 1934? Sept. 4 we have seven games behind and we win pennant. Why not now? We have fine young team, Brooklyns have too many old men. They get tired when sun bakes down. We get better all time. Plenty of games left. We be all right."

But someone should ask Senor Gonzalez who's going to hit for the young Cardinals.

MURDER IN FERRY COMMAND

By A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: A series of clever deductions have brought Clyde Dawson, of the Canadian Intelligence Department, from Newfoundland, where one spy was hanged for murder, to Chicago, where his confederates make their headquarters. The girl in the case, who may hold the key to the spy ring's operation, has agreed to meet Dawson secretly, after a first meeting in which Dawson knocks out her insolent companion. At the agreed meeting place, Dawson narrowly escapes a hail of bullets from a car in which the girl and two men are riding.

A "SHOCKING" DISCOVERY

CHAPTER VII

INDECISION had never been one of Clyde Dawson's failings. Even as he washed the blood from his face and dabbed iodine on the scalp cut, his mind had gone to work on the immediate problem of what to do next.

The twisted knee was swelling rapidly but Dawson found he could still walk. There was work to do, right now. He felt his would-be assassins, not knowing his fate, would hardly return to that limestone house without pausing to establish an alibi.

And Dawson intended paying that house in Homewood an uninvited visit.

Stopping the taxi a block from his destination, Dawson tugged at his hat brim and turned up his coat collar.

He inspected the lock with a vest-pocket flashlight. The third key did the trick and the door swung open . . . and Dawson halted abruptly as he saw a partly opened door at the end of a long hall leading into a lighted room.

Leaving the light on, Dawson walked heavily across to the stairs. From the lighted room came sounds of motion followed by steps in the hall. Quickening his step, he mounted as rapidly as aching knee would allow.

He was barely in the shadows at the top when the tall, dark housekeeper reached the bottom, looked upwards and said something that sounded like a guttural "Good night." Dawson grunted deep-throatedly in reply and wheeled into the first room, whipping out his revolver as he did so.

The room looked uninteresting—obviously a man's room. He devoted only a few minutes to examining it before slipping into the hall and tiptoeing to the next room. It was a girl's room—a photo of a couple on the wall told him it was Carole Fiske's.

Working in speedy, experienced fashion, Dawson gave the room a thorough search but without result. He even probed gingerly through multi-colored articles in bureau drawers with the forlorn hope of finding some letters.

The next room lay behind a locked door. A brief inspection told Dawson a skeleton keys wouldn't work here. From a vest pocket he produced a strip of celluloid about six inches long and two and one-half inches wide. Praying that the door was held only by a single spring he poked into the minute opening . . . ah, he was in luck! The lock slid back easily.

He whistled under his breath at the sight that greeted him. The room's walls were covered with air charts and assorted diagrams and photographs. There was a large radio receiving set, two desks, an unusually big world globe, a filing cabinet, and three bookcases.

The air charts interested him. It took only a few minutes for him to decide what they were—the charts, marked with numerous "probable routes," dealt with the Royal Air Force Ferry Command operations. Varicolored pins were tacked on points throughout the United States and colored string ran from one to another—it was notable that most of the ones in the U. S. A. converged on Chicago.

He looked about to the right—noting the courses through Montreal and up to Newfoundland. It had the right location of the secret take-off airport. Six black pins were situated at a number of points and Dawson glanced at an index on the wall.

"Black pins," he read, "indicate reported locations of known crashes to date."

Other lines puzzled him—hazily, he recalled having seen ones like them somewhere. Then he remembered. They had been on the charts in the meteorologist's department at the Ferry Command airport in Newfoundland—nests of concentric ovals in black lines were the "isobars," lines of equal barometric pressure. Across these, great curves, drawn in crayon, indicated warm and cold fronts . . . a large red covered book on the nearby desk confirmed his opinion. The book contained weather reports, from Newfoundland to Florida.

Beside the book a mimeographed sheet caught his eye—a publicity release from the News Bureau of Nova Scotia, with an address in New York City.

The release stated that "no restrictions on off-shore fishing along the Nova Scotia coast have been suggested as yet and no license cards are required, and fishermen go out daily as before the war." It went on to state that unless something very unforeseen occurs no restrictions would be put on the pastime in 1942.

Evidently the lads are interested in off-shore fishing along the Atlantic coast, Dawson noted for future consideration.

"Time was passing with dangerous rapidity but the large filing cabinet demanded a brief study. He tugged at the handles but all the drawers were locked. He studied the top lock carefully before selecting a tiny key resembling a twisted hairpin from his skeleton collections.

Bending down, Dawson shoved the key slowly into the key hole—suddenly he felt a tingling sensation followed by one of sinking into an ocean of feathers. The sound of a clanging bell came to his ears from across an eternity of distance . . . growing dimmer and dimmer.

When consciousness returned, Dawson found himself mentally alert although little devils seemed to be pounding at his head. Almost instantly he recalled the filing cabinet and the queer sensation—he cursed himself for having neglected to anticipate an electrical guard device . . . then he realized he was bound hand and feet and that there were people in the room. From his position he couldn't see anybody, but two shadows on the wall were those of men.

Almost imperceptibly, he tested the bonds holding his wrists. They didn't budge. A good job had also been done on his ankles.

There was only one thing to do—play possum until a better opportunity cropped up.

For fully half an hour he remained in that position before the two men came over to him. He felt a hand being pressed on his heart.

"The dog got a good shot of juice . . ." said a gruff voice, John's beyond a doubt . . . "He's still out cold. The meddlesome fool, whoever he is. Grab his feet and we'll carry him into the store-room. Sammy will be around with the truck some time tomorrow and we'll ship him off—he's too damn nosy to leave alive. Let's go!"

Through scarcely opened eyelids he saw he was being carried through the hall, up a short flight of stairs and into a store-room. The men dropped him on the floor with a painful thud. His injured knee screamed in protest and Dawson fought to control his facial muscles.

Morrison Golfers Strike Pay Dirt in Tournament; Dixon Team Ranks Fourth

The half-dozen ambitious linkswomen representing the Morrison Country club, who took command of the Lincoln Highway tournament at the Bureau Valley course in Princeton on Tuesday afternoon, evidently had their collective mind made up to go in front to stay, for they never left the gate open for the other four teams in the field. None of the players were making distant Rockies rock with their golf at any time during the two-day tourney, but they believe they did set some sort of record (due, probably, to a tricky course which proved even tougher, bound with a snug bogey that baffled the entire field from the first). For instance, there were no pars, only one golfer in the 30 was able to beat bogey, her runner-up was down, and only two putters were adorned with birdies. Women's par for the course is 38, and the bogey was 47.

Morrison, runner-up in the 1941 tournament at Dixon, was 42 down when the last putt trickled into the cup yesterday—but carried home the handsome silver platter the players had been admiring at the clubhouse. The Princeton linkswomen, whose hospitality and thoughtfulness contributed much to the enjoyment and comfort of their guests, retained a smaller silver platter, as runner-up, with 81 down. Position of the other three teams also remained unchanged from the opening day, ranking as follows: Rock River of Sterling, 94 down; Dixon, 130 down; Rochelle, 132 down.

Morrison, replaced as 1940 title winner here last year by Clinton, Iowa, was also successful in the elusive chase for the individual low score, Mrs. Fritz Alenange being the only player to beat bogey. For her plus seven, she received a silver tray. Her runner-up, Mrs. Helen Fike of Sterling, also received a silver tray, with a minus two.

Flight Winners
Attractive compacts, with an engraving that read: "Lincoln Highway Tournament, 1942", went to winners of six flight prizes, including: First, Mrs. John Highfield, Princeton, who carded a minus eight; third, Mrs. Mary Sheldon of Sterling, (the former Miss Mary Kennedy of Dixon), minus four; fourth, Miss Marilyn Smith of Morrison, minus three; fifth, Mrs. Dorothea Leclair, who resides in Dixon and was a member of the Princeton team, minus five; sixth, Miss Ruth Ann Bealer of Morrison, minus 11.

Putting honors for the 36 holes went to Mrs. Theo Bailey of Princeton, with 65, and she was presented with a wooden serving tray. Mrs. Carl Buchner, Sr., of Dixon, who won the putting title here last year, required but two strokes more than Mrs. Bailey on the greens.

Two Birdies
Another Dixon player, Mrs. John Shaulis, Jr., had a birdie on the fifth in the first 18 holes, and Mrs. Mary Sheldon of Sterling made the only other birdie of the tourney on the tenth. (Twenty-two birdies were bagged in last year's tournament.)

Buckets of rain beat down over the course early yesterday morning, which held up play until about 10:30. Greens and fairways dried fast, however, once the sun found its focus, and sweaters and jackets that were insulation against the chill and dampness for the first few holes were soon tucked away.

Yesterday's gallery was larger than on the preceding day, with numerous interested spectators trudging over the meadows and ravines to cheer their favorites along the way. Approximately 75 guests attended yesterday's luncheon, at which the prizes were awarded.

To Oregon in '43
At their annual business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Conrad Dyke of Princeton, the association members planned to hold their 1943 tournament at Oregon. Oregon, Davenport and Clinton were not represented this year.

Members of teams competing at Bureau Valley this week included: Morrison—Mrs. Fritz Alenange, Mrs. Ruth Gronner, Mrs. Jane Hodges, Miss Marilyn Smith, Mrs. Everett Sturdevant, and Miss Ruth Ann Bealer; Princeton—Mrs. Vera Highfield, Mrs. Ellen Lawton, Mrs. Sally Vance, Mrs. Adelaide Bailey, Mrs. Dorothea Leclair, and Mrs. Ann Robb.

Sterling—Mrs. Helen Fike, Mrs. Betty Snyder, Mrs. Mary Sheldon, Miss Harriett Fike (daughter of Rock River's No. 1 player), Mrs. Margaret Peters, and Mrs. Evelyn Bickford; Dixon—Mrs. John Shaulis, Jr., Mrs. Carl Buchner, Sr., Miss Marion Davies, Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, Mrs. Robert Brewster, and Mrs. Eldon Myers; Rochelle—Mrs. Helen Winslow, Miss Margaret Ruth Baker, Mrs. Jone Bushnell, Mrs. Martha Lind, Mrs. Virginia Tilton, and Mrs. Pauline Hooley.

FROM CALIFORNIA

Miss Lois Sheffield returned earlier this week aboard the Challenger, after a five-week vacation in Los Angeles, Pasadena and Arcadia, Calif. She spent the past week end at the George Knight home in Lincoln, Neb.

Linkswomen Make Progress in Their Handicap Meet

Three second-round matches in the July handicap tourney for women golfers of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club were played off yesterday. Mrs. Joseph Villiger, Jr. defeated Mrs. Edward Witzleb, Mrs. Ralph Barlow lost to Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth, and Mrs. P. J. Malay finished ahead of Miss Kathryn Herman.

Mrs. Lawrence Poole was leading at the half-way mark in her 18-hole match with Miss Virginia Klein on Tuesday, when the linkswomen were playing for low net and low putts. Mrs. E. B. Ryan won low net honors, with 37, and Mrs. Barlow turned in low putts, 15.

A scramble luncheon preceded Tuesday's play, with 14 attending. Saturday has been set as the deadline for all second-round matches of the tournament.

FAMILY DINNER HONORS SELECTEE AND NEWLYWEDS

Mr. and Mrs. George Merriman entertained at a family dinner Tuesday evening at Beck's Landmark tea room in Grand Detour, honoring their son, Mickey, before his departure for Glenview to begin training in the naval air corps. Sharing honors with the selectee were Mrs. Merriman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Moore, who were married recently.

The centerpiece for the table was a two-tiered cake, and a miniature bridal pair. An American flag, and airplane and a tiny pilot completed the decorative motif.

The Moores have taken an apartment at 1309 Third street. Both Mr. Moore and his bride are employed at the Reynolds Wire company.

BARNHARTS HAVE FAMILY REUNION

Members of the Barnhart clan, who were to have held their reunion at Smississippi park in Sterling on Sunday, changed their meeting place to the George Pfundstein home, because of noon showers. Thirty guests were present for the picnic dinner, including:

The Albert Queckboerner family of Chadwick, the Charles Heffelfingers of Milledgeville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnhart of Milledgeville, Mrs. Martha Boone and daughter of Polo, the Mason Cobels of Sterling, the George Pfundstein family of Sterling, Hannah Madison of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barnhart of Dixon, and Glenn Hartman of Chadwick.

SHIP AHOY! I. N. U. MEN ARE PLANNING RIVER JAUNT TO LOWELL PARK TONIGHT

Dixon's long waterfront, normally devoid of activity save for fishing, will echo with the "putt-putt" of a strange-appearing flotilla early this evening, when men employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities company and invited guests (approximately 50 passengers in all) set off with spray flying and the sparkling Rock river before them, in the general direction of Lowell park. (Whether the park beach itself or the wooded meadow of the opposite shore is to be the ultimate destination of the craft was yet to be decided when this story went to the composing room, but in any case, sizzling steaks have been promised for hearty appetites at the end of the ride up river.)

Noise, not speed, is to be the goal of the "sailors" who are eagerly awaiting an opportunity to satisfy their curiosity as to just how much noise can be made by the 20 boats they're expecting to participate in the jaunt. Outboard motors boasting from one and a half to 16 horse power, two large inboard motors, and a conglomeration of other craft that well nigh defies description will contribute to the general hullabaloo as mooring chains are released and the skippers "open the gas." Two canoes, with outboard motors attached, will carry part of the passengers, and big boats, small boats, flat-bottom boats, and round-bottom boats (practically anything that will hold water, one of the prospective sailors says) will convey the others.

The crowd will go aboard at 5:30 at Potter's dock, off River street. Supper will be served whenever everyone arrives at wherever the destination is to be.

Fred Meinke and Herbert Coop have been superintending arrangements for tonight's outing, with no lack of suggestions and requests from their fellow employees.

CLUBWOMEN SEW FOR RED CROSS
Buttonholes for 14 Red Cross garments were completed by 15 members of Prairieville Social circle, who held a special meeting for the purpose yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Theodore Behrends in Sterling. At the close of the afternoon's needlework, the hostess served refreshments to the members and seven visitors.

Plans for the next meeting will be announced later.

Newcomers Meet at Grand Detour

The Colonial Inn, historical landmark of Grand Detour, was yesterday's meeting place for members of the Who's New club of Dixon, with card games following luncheon. Paintings by several members of the village's artist colony that hang on the walls of the main dining room interested the newcomers, eight of whom were greeted as new members of the club yesterday.

At the card tables, Mrs. J. C. Risius, formerly of Wilmette, and Mrs. D. C. Bryant held high scores in contract. Mrs. L. D. Randahl was fortunate in auction, and Mrs. R. F. Weber received the favor in pinocle.

Mrs. Jerry Cheek and Mrs. John Hawker were hostesses for the party yesterday. On Wednesday, Aug. 5, the clubwomen will meet at the Bryant cottage on the Rock river for a scramble picnic.

FROM MARYLAND
Mrs. Glen Zentz and Miss Ruth Zentz have returned from a week's visit with Pvt. Edward Levan, who is stationed at Fort Meade, near Baltimore, Md. While in the east, they also went sightseeing in Washington, D. C.

LEARN HOW TO 'WEAR BETTER' IF YOU WANT TO BE POPULAR

By RUTH MILLETT
While women are busy brushing up on the rules for making their household equipment last longer maybe it would be a good time for them to brush up on a few rules for making themselves wear better than other people.

Here are some rules that, if followed, are guaranteed to make any woman "wear better":

1. Don't talk too much. Women who "wear well" are restful persons to have around.

2. Don't repeat yourself. Nothing is quite as boring as having to hear the same story twice from the same person.

3. Don't let embarrassment or uneasiness make you fluster. If you don't quite know what to do or say, just relax. It will do more to set you and those around you at ease than anything you could do or say.

4. Don't try to outdo everyone else in your gloomy predictions. A little cheerfulness and gaiety won't make you look like a lame brain.

5. Don't impose on other people—on their time, on their friendship, or on their generosity.

6. Don't be critical. The woman who sits around and criticizes other people shows a worse side of her own nature than of those she rakes over the coals.

7. Don't try to impress other people. If what you are and what you have isn't good enough for one group, get into another where you can be yourself. The most tiresome person in the world is the person who feels he has to keep selling himself continually.

8. Don't keep after people to do things they don't want to do. No matter how regretful a person sounds when he turns down your invitations, if he turns down two or three in a row there is a very good chance he isn't interested. So just assume he isn't.

9. Don't feel you always have to swap even, when it comes to favors. Let your friends do all they want to for you, and you do all you can for them. If the scales aren't always perfectly balanced don't nag about it.

10. Wherever you are, know when to leave. If you stay longer than you are wanted you are bound to be a bore.

It's queer how many women will conscientiously follow all kinds of rules for making their electric refrigerators and washing machines last longer—but can be bothered to follow a few simple rules for making themselves wear well.

MRS. LYLE REDFOOT WRITES TO HER PARENTS IN OREGON FROM ARUBA, WEST INDIES

"While there used to be complaining of monotony in the diet, one hears none now—we are just thankful to be alive," writes Mrs. Lyle Redfoot from Aruba, Netherlands West Indies in a recent letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lhorbe, of Oregon. Mrs. Redfoot, the former Miss Helene de Lhorbe, has been teaching at Aruba for the past two years, and her husband is with the Standard Oil Company Refinery there. The couple expect to return to the United States by plane during their vacation in late August.

Excerpts from the letter follow: "Was awakened last night by the evacuation warning. (A warning to men working in the oil refinery, the largest in the world). Don't know which is the least pleasant way to be awakened, by the siren or by explosions 'way out at sea."

"The submarines do not come close to shore anymore. The last one was blasted right out of the sea."

"My ration of fresh foods is 15 carrots. I eat one raw each day. Then I have tiny green grape fruits and oranges. They have no juice nor taste. There are not many recreations here since the clubhouse burned. It held the picture show, bowling alley and club rooms."

FORMER TENNESSEE RESIDENTS MEET AT OGLE FAIR GROUNDS

Approximately 350 guests attended the eighteenth annual picnic for former residents of Tennessee, their families and friends, held Sunday at the Ogle county fair grounds in Oregon.

Roy Carter of Rockford was elected president of the association for the coming year, Alex Rader of Loves Park is to serve as vice president, and I. D. Rodeffer of Mount Morris is secretary-treasurer. Carl Kyker of Oregon and James Galyean of Mount Morris are to arrange next year's gathering, which is also to be held at Oregon.

William Brockwell of Oregon offered prayer at the dinner tables. A short program followed, with Ernest D. Landers of Oregon making the address of welcome. Dr. L. L. Hart of Mount Morris was an impromptu speaker, and music was furnished by Mrs. Dorene Joeston and Miss Grace Schier of Oregon, and Burl Harman, Victor Patterson, and B. Smith.

SOUTH DIXON CLUB
Twenty-one members of the South Dixon Community club were entertained with games Wednesday afternoon, as guests of Mrs. Charles Kregger. Mrs. Carl Blum received the favor at bingo.

Mrs. Guy Jones assisted the hostess at the refreshment table. The next meeting is to take place Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 19, at the home of Mrs. Belle Mumford.

ALTON GUEST
Mrs. D. A. Brazel of Alton arrived in Dixon yesterday afternoon for a visit with the E. E. Barrowmans. Mrs. Barrowman is a sister of Mrs. Brazel.

Son of Former Amboy Couple Weds at Moline

The bridegroom's father heard the nuptial vows, when Miss Ruth Blaser of Milan became the bride of Kenneth D. Brink, son of Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Brink of 1437 Twelfth street, Moline, in an 8 o'clock ceremony Sunday evening, June 28, at the Plymouth Congregational church of Moline. The Brinks formerly resided in Amboy.

Baskets of salmon pink gladioli, white regal lilies and ferns decorated the candlelit church, which the bridegroom's father serves as pastor.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Sidney Blaser of Taylor Ridge, wore a gown of white celanese marquisette, fashioned with lace inserts in the skirt, a V-neckline and long train. Her veil of illusion was bordered with lace matching her gown and was held to her head by a tiara of lace. Her flowers were a shower arrangement of white roses.

Miss Evelyn Blaser of Taylor Ridge, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. Her tiara matched her gown of rose marquisette, and she carried Johanna Hill roses. Another niece, Patricia Ann Blaser of Reynolds, served as flower girl, wearing pink silk with pink smoking, and a headband of pink flowers and ribbon. Her white basket contained rose petals.

Robert Brink, six-year-old brother of the bridegroom carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Robert Newell of Moline served as best man.

Mrs. Leslie Stevenson of Moline played organ melodies, and Miss Shirley Kennedy sang.

At the reception which followed in the church parlors, the serving table was decorated with larkspur and regal lilies. A tiered cake was the centerpiece for the bride's table.

Since returning from a motor trip through the north, Mr. and Mrs. Brink have been at home at 1434 Twelfth street, Moline. The bride, a graduate of Rock Island high school and Augustana college, was a teacher at Pleasant Hill school near Milan. Her husband was graduated from Moline high school, attended Augustana college, and is employed by Deere and company of Moline.

Japs Have Lost 89 of Warships Since Pearl Harbor Raid

(By The Associated Press)
The Japanese navy has lost 89 fighting ships since Pearl Harbor, an Associated Press compilation of official announcements from the U. S. Army, Navy and General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia disclosed today.

Similar announcements disclose 48 U. S. naval craft of all categories, including auxiliaries, lost on all sea fronts since the submarine-sinking of the Reuben James in the North Atlantic, Oct. 30, 1941.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the naval affairs committee several months ago estimated the Japanese navy had 260 fighting craft.

The following is a table of Japanese naval strength based on Walsh's report and Associated Press loss compilations:

In Service	Sunk
Battleships 10	1
Aircraft carriers 8	6
Cruisers 46	21
Destroyers 125	32
Submarines 71	29

Walsh gave the following classifications of other ships under construction by the Japanese:

Battleships 8
Aircraft carriers 2
Cruisers 10
Destroyers 11
Submarines 7

Special Course in Army Mechanics for V. Ridenhour

In recognition of the mechanical ability he has displayed during his service in the Army, Pvt. G. Vincent Ridenhour, whose home is at 69 Lincoln ave., has won appointment to a special three months' course of instruction in general Army mechanics.

Announcement of Pvt. Ridenhour's enrollment in the Quartermaster Motor Transport School, Fort Sheridan, Ill., is made by Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding general of the Sixth Corps Area with headquarters in Chicago.

Training equipment newly installed at the school includes all Army types of engines, motors and other automotive parts and vehicles ranging from jeeps to complete mobile repair shops and 6-ton wreckers.

"Pvt. Ridenhour and his fellow-students have highly important tasks awaiting them when their schooling is at an end," General Grunert said. "They are the men who must give reality to the slogan 'keep 'em rolling,' and that means both combat vehicles and the supply trucks of the Quartermaster."

Practical Bench Work
"So that these men may be thoroughly prepared to meet the problems of mobile warfare, the officers and civilian automotive experts of the Quartermaster Corps who compose the school faculty are emphasizing practical bench work with the tools of the mechanic's trade. Before they can win diplomas as first-class solder-mechanics they must prove their ability by doing actual repair and maintenance work on vehicles that are in daily operation throughout the Sixth Corps Area."

Successful completion of the course will mean that Pvt. Ridenhour is eligible for promotion and appointment to a post as supervising mechanic or motor transport administrative assistant.

A shipping clerk for Belier's Bakery, 69 Ottawa avenue, before entering the Army, Pvt. Ridenhour said: "I have always had a great interest in motor mechanics but this is the first opportunity I've had to get the training I've needed. The instructors here are excellent and I know the knowledge I am acquiring will be a great help to me, both in the Army and when I return to civilian life."

Officers to Aid WMC in Industrial Areas

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Army liaison officers have been assigned to industrial areas throughout the country to assist the War Manpower Commission in coordinating requirements with labor supply and training agencies, the war department announced today.

James P. Mitchell, director of the civilian personnel division, services of supply, said "we are now approaching a critical period of shortages of skilled workers and full cooperation is necessary between employers, workers and all agencies concerned in labor supply in order that the fullest possible utilization may be made of manpower available to war department contractors."

Duties of liaison officers will be to advise the department on availability of labor in areas where contracts may be awarded, prevent "hoarding" and "pilfering" of skilled labor by department contractors, to determine that all available labor in the area is being used, and to cooperate in anticipating, with a view to preventing, possible shortages. They will work with selective service officials as well as others concerned with labor supply.

Among the liaison officers already appointed, and their areas were:

Col. Oliver C. Wyman and Maj. Lloyd W. Warfel, 520 Merchandise Mart, Chicago—Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin.

Green To Ask Law Permitting Prisons To Make War Goods

Governor Indicates He Knows of No Other Way Under Statute

Springfield, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—The legislature will be asked to revise existing state laws so as to permit Illinois prison industries to produce clothing and other materials for the Army and Navy, Governor Green said today.

The governor declined direct comment on a recent opinion by Attorney General George F. Barrett that present statutes prohibit conversion of the prison textile plants to war production.

"All I care to say is that I had hoped we could use the prison plants, and the men in the prisons, for war work," the governor said. "I know the prisoners themselves are anxious to do something which will be a contribution to the war effort."

The governor indicated he knew of no way in which the prison plants, including clothing, furniture and meal working shops, could be utilized except by statutory amendment, in view of the Barrett opinion. Placing the issue before the legislature would be the "logical step," the governor said. The general assembly does not convene in regular session until next January.

Barrett interpreted existing law to provide that the prison goods could be used only in the penal and welfare institutions, or for state government use.

In his interview with reporters Governor Green said he had given no thought to selection of a successor to Gilbert E. Keebler, State Administrative Auditor, who resigned effective August 1. He said he wouldn't speculate on a successor because he had no one in mind. The position may remain vacant for a time, he added.

Both the governor and Keebler declared there had been no disagreements between them.

"We are the best of friends," Keebler remarked.

Keebler said he would remain as the representative of the public on the Public Building Authority created by the legislature and authorized to issue bonds up to $12,000,000 for the purchase or construction of state buildings.

He expressed doubt a state building would be acquired in Chicago, for a centralization of state offices there, until after the war because of government restrictions on building and alterations.

Applications for Sugar for Fall Canning Will Be Taken Next Week

Applications for sugar for fall canning will be taken the week of July 20th, throughout Lee county.

Deputy boards will be established in Lee Center, West Brooklyn, Compton, Paw Paw, Lee, Steward, Ashton, Franklin Grove, Amboy, Sublette, Harmon, Nelson, Natchusa, Walton and Eldena.

Where it is more convenient for anyone they may register at any of these locations. Otherwise they may register at the office of the Lee County War Price and Rationing Board, city hall, Dixon. Also, all residents of Dixon will register at the City Hall. Please observe following instructions as follows:

Investigate Death of Teacher's Wife

Cambridge, Mass., July 16.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. Pauline Allen Davis, 45, wife of Dr. Hallo-well, Davis, associate professor of physiology at Harvard College, was being investigated today by District Attorney Robert P. Bradford "at the request of certain relatives."

The district attorney said that Mrs. Davis was found dead Saturday in the study of her Belmont home with her head bowed over the edge of a metal waste basket "in such a manner that her wind-pipe apparently had been shut off."

Under orders of the district attorney, Medical Examiner David C. Dow, Jr., performed an autopsy yesterday after Mrs. Davis' funeral was postponed. The physician said that he would make no report on the autopsy until certain vital organs had been examined at Harvard Medical School.

Held Accidental

After an earlier examination the medical examiner had reported the death "presumably accidental."

Bradford said that the woman appeared "to have died of asphyxiation, but there is still the question of how she came to lose consciousness, and thus fall against the basket."

"It is a question that some members of the family want answered and only an autopsy would show this," he added. "I want to emphasize, however, that there is no evidence that her death was anything other than accidental."

Mrs. Davis, a graduate of Rad-cliffe College, served overseas as a nurse with the Harvard medical unit during the first World war and also distinguished herself as a Near East relief worker for many years.

Winnie Ruth Judd's Father Dies Today

Phoenix, Ariz., July 16.—(AP)—Rev. Harvey J. McKinnell, who came to Phoenix 11 years ago from Darlington, Ind., to assist in a prolonged legal battle for the life of his daughter, Winnie Ruth Judd, trunk slayer, died today.

Rev. McKinnell, 82, was stricken with a heart ailment and paralytic stroke, his physician said.

A retired Free Methodist minister, Rev. McKinnell and his wife, who survives him, came west to aid Mrs. Judd who was accused of shooting to death her two best friends, hacking one body to pieces, and shipping both to Los Angeles as baggage. The double killing occurred October 16, 1931.

In February 1932 a jury convicted Mrs. Judd, and she was sentenced to hang. She later was declared insane and committed to an asylum.

Indiana Justice Will Give Offenders Choice

LaFayette, Ind., July 16.—(AP)—First offenders in traffic cases in Justice Glenn C. Nedigh's court may have their choice of investing $10 in war stamps or paying a $5 fine.

Justice Nedigh, in announcing the policy, said it would not apply to drunken driving or flagrant cases.

—Engraved wedding invitations, announcements, visiting cards and formal may be seen at the B. F. Shaw Printing Company office.

West Brooklyn Prepares for Homecoming

West Brooklyn is now ready to take care of the thousands of people who are expected to attend the annual homecoming day, Sunday July 19. The members of St. Mary's parish have rounded out their program of activities. It is with great pride that they offer to the public, a well balanced program based on the theme of patriotism.

The day will begin with the blessing of the American, the Papal, and the service flags at 11 o'clock in the newly decorated church. The blessing and the sermon for the occasion will be given by the Camp Grant chaplain, Colonel A. V. Simoni. Colonel Simoni is a veteran of the last war, having been awarded the Purple Heart for bravery and has served continuously in the armed forces for a period of 25 years. His good work was recognized by the church and the Holy Father, Pope Pious XI, elevated Colonel Simoni to the rank of Domestic Prelate to His Person. He is now the senior chaplain at Camp Grant. Then will follow the Holy Sacrifice of the mass at which the beautiful Novena to our Lady of Victory will be said.

The famous country style chicken dinner, long popular with those who have attended this annual event will be served from 10:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. in the parish hall. Great stress has been made in the color scheme, which will be picked with a patriotic background. Flags and national emblems will be placed on the tables and on the walls of the hall. The attractive young ladies, who are to serve the public will wear red, white and blue organdy aprons and military caps. During the dinner and in the afternoon, the crowds will be entertained by the music of Henry Orr, popular NBC radio artist, and his electric Hammond organ.

Among the guests who will attend this celebration will be the following from Camp Grant: Colonel J. Martin, who is the principal speaker, Colonel Jacobson, Major C. Lube, and Captain Muelhoff. Then there will be the officers from the Green River Ordnance plant, and many notables from the surrounding territory are expected to attend.

The Illinois Reserve Militia of Dixon, who will march for the blessing of the flags, will give a drill in the afternoon. These young men, who under the capable leadership of the newly promoted Major J. A. Brady and Capt. R. E. Worsley will prove what great progress the militia has made in the short time it has been organized.

The afternoon will be complete with attractions of every kind to meet the needs and tastes of both young and old. The baked ham supper will be served beginning at 4:30 p. m. There's plenty of food for everyone.

At 8 p. m. Cliff Williams orchestra radio stars from station WMRO in Aurora will provide an excellent entertainment. All in all a day of fun, frolic and good time is assured to everyone. Those who have attended these parties before are asked by Father Guccione and his able committee to come again this year.

Diesel Engine School for Navy May Be Set Up at Illinois Soon

Champaign, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—University of Illinois officials said a contract probably would be signed within a few days with the Navy for a school, to be opened Sept. 14, to teach the operation and maintenance of Diesel engines, such as are used in patrol boats and other craft.

C. S. Havens, physical plant director, said laboratories would be established in the football stadium and the navy would take over a men's dormitory, opened last year. The Diesel school would have a maximum enrollment of 800.

A Navy signal school established here several months ago will reach an enrollment of 800 in August. When it was established the university turned over to the Navy two gymnasiums and mess facilities in the new Illini Union building.

Freeport Youth Wins Science Scholarship

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—Joseph Livingstone Ousley, 17, Freeport, Ill., last night received a $200 scholarship for study in a science field of his own choosing. The award was announced by the Science Clubs of America which selected the 10,000 competitors for the 20 scholarships granted.

—To those who are much on their feet—workmen, engineers, etc. will find great relief from HEALO—the well known foot powder.

Weekly Food and Marketing
Letter by Mrs. George Thurn for Dixon Telegraph Readers

"Live sensibly in warm weather." That familiar admonition has double significance this season when "health for Victory" is being urged throughout the nation. Summer brings sunshine, but there is a tendency to overdo this boon—for unaccustomed sunshine, like exercise, must be taken in moderation. Simple foods are the first wise rule. Sugar limitations should be regarded as a blessing in disguise for those who have difficulty in living up rich desserts. Use plenty of fresh fruits, with homemade cookies for a sweet, and for hearty puddings that feature milk and eggs. Serve such a pudding, for instance, to complete a vegetable dinner.

In planning summer menus, learn from the peoples of equatorial countries, where an excess of meat is avoided. The answer is that the average person travels a bit slower on hot days, thus using less energy and burning less fuel. Fewer calories are needed, too. Eat a little lean meat; more salads; plenty of vegetables, both raw and cooked; eggs and cheese, and drink more milk. Excessively cold foods are taboo, particularly between meals. Medical authorities agree that ice-cold drinks and ice-cream are disagreeable shock to the department of the interior, especially if you are very hot. The exception is that ice-cream or sherbets may follow a meal; that is, the dessert course.

Be sure that you are getting all-balanced meals, including all the important vitamins and minerals each day. But avoid over-eating. One beverage, other than milk, is the enthusiasm of medical men. It is plentiful and free. Yes, water. Six to eight glasses a day are none too many. Many of the best defense plants are furnishing salt tablets for their workers. A few grains of salt in each glass of water on sultry or humid days will quickly benefit a system that is being drained of its fluids and sodium chloride.

Iced coffee is a favorite on sizzling days, yet strangely enough, steaming hot coffee is more appropriate, doctors claim. It is the liberal cream and sugar iced coffee that speed up your eating plant.

"Eat salads for health" was a timely advertising slogan for one that should be carried through the warm months. Fish salads are delicious and healthful in summertime. Flake leftover cooked fish and combine with cooked or raw vegetables. Iced cucumber, radishes and celery are all happy with fish. Despite its quality of lightness, fish is rich in mineral and vitamin content, and deserves a more prominent place on the menu. Now that garden vegetables are tender and plentiful, they should be cooked to preserve all their valuable contribution. Do not peel fruits and vegetables, unless absolutely necessary. Cook vegetables, such as young carrots, potatoes and summer squash with their skins on. Preserve the flavor of green peas and lima beans by cooking them immediately after they are shelled. Lima beans, rich sources of protein, are amazingly inexpensive. The "no soda" rule is generally followed. Be sparing of salt with pungent vegetables; season them when the cooking is almost over. Do not drown vegetables in cooking water. Remember that vitamins B1, B2 and nicotinic acid (now called niacin) are all water soluble. Large amounts of water and long cooking cost you the vitamins you paid for.

To the list of summer beverages could be added vegetable juices. Have all cooking liquor that is not served as a sauce with the vegetable. Chill these juices in the refrigerator, but do not keep longer than two days. Of course they fit into soups, casseroles, stews and gravies. If you do not like the flavor alone, combine the liquor from cooked vegetables with tomato juice, and season with lemon.

Nearly every outdoor garden and window-sill herb garden has a plant of chives. Try adding minced chives to these vegetable cocktails.

Safety agencies have compiled a list of sensible precautions for those who spend vacations away from home. Here are some of the suggestions to help you get the maximum of rest and relaxation from the change:

1. Be sure that drinking water is pure. If there is any question about the water, boil it.
2. Take particular care for cooling and conditioning of food.
3. Replace heavy foods with more fresh fruits and vegetables in the diet.
4. Acquire sun tan gradually, because reflected rays burn too quickly, beware of intense sun when boating, bathing or swimming.
5. Cover your head in the hot sun. If troubled with high blood pressure, avoid excessive heat.
6. Know your swimming limitations. Do not enter the water at least two hours after meals. Come out of the water before you are chilled.
7. Get at least eight hours sleep and relax at least once during the day.

A one hour nap or "quiet period" after the mid-day meal is beneficial. And so all the summer precautions add up to the two words, "live sensibly." Happy vacation to you!

SUMMERTIME SPECIALS
Escalloped Eggs with Cheese
This nourishing dish is appropriate for numerous hot weather occasions—luncheon, the Sunday night supper, buffet service of a porch party. Added seasonings may be added, such as 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, celery juice or dried leaves, or a few drops table sauce.

1 1/2 tablespoons butter

1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash paprika
1 cup bread crumbs
3 tablespoons melted butter
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese.
Prepare a smooth white sauce by blending the 1 1/2 tablespoons butter with the flour. Slowly add milk and seasonings, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat until slightly thickened. Reserve.

Combine 1/2 cup of the crumbs with the 3 tablespoons melted butter in a separate saucepan. Butter a casserole well and arrange layers of the white sauce, sliced eggs, grated cheese and the remaining dry crumbs. Top with the buttered crumbs and rather thick slices of egg.

Bake about 45 minutes in a moderately hot oven 375 degrees

F. or until the top is golden brown. If baked in a glass dish, this treat goes directly to the table. Serves four.

PRESERVING TIME

Spiced Currants

Much is known of the goodness of honey in baking, cooking and preserving. Now comes the welcome news of new-old recipes for canning and preserving with molasses. This recipe is equally good for gooseberries.

3 quarts (6 lbs.) currants
6 cups molasses
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons stick cinnamon
2 tablespoons whole cloves
1 tablespoon grated nutmeg

Pick over currants, wash, drain and remove stems. Heat molasses, sugar and vinegar and when hot (but not boiling) add spices and currants. Let simmer over low heat for 1 hour; do not boil. Seal in jars.

If you do not like too decided a flavor of spices, place them in a white muslin bag before adding to the liquid. Spiced currants team well with cold meats. Another sweet to serve with meats features tomatoes.

Grandma's Tomato Jam
4 pounds ripe tomatoes

3 cups molasses
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon allspice
1 stick cinnamon
3 cups seedless raisins
Heat molasses, vinegar, sugar and add the spices tied in a bag. Peel the tomatoes and add to this syrup. Cook slowly 2 hours. Add the raisins and simmer 2 hours longer. Place in sterilized jars and seal.

—the particular ones—use our colored paper for the pantry shelves and bureau drawers. It comes in pink, green, canary, blue and white. In rolls, 10 cents to 50 cents.—B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

Made almost entirely of non-critical materials, a new type of bus trailer has a capacity almost three times that of an ordinary city bus, and will help in solving the problem of transporting thousands of defense workers.

ASHTON

Mrs. Grace E. Linscott
Reporter. Phone 205

Miss Barbara Miller of Dixon is spending this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Krug.

Miss Helen Winger of Dixon visited over the week end at the home of Mrs. Lillian Eckhart.

Mrs. Vernon Smith and son Melvin departed on Monday evening for Loveland, Colorado, where they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyers and family.

T-Sgt. George Vaupel of Camp Pickett, Virginia, is enjoying a furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vaupel. Private Charles Vaupel of Camp Grant also spent the week end at the home of his parents.

Mrs. James Hollahan of Chicago was a guest last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Orner. On Thursday she was accompanied to Chicago by Mrs. Grace Linscott and daughter Marjorie who visited Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Linscott's son, Lyle, who is employed at the Chicago Motor club.

Mrs. Anna Albrecht left last week for Groton, New York, to visit her sister, Mrs. Thomas Holland and family. Mrs. Holland will be remembered as the former Miss Emma Messer.

Jerry Faber of Chicago, who is visiting relatives and friends here and Bonnie Plum visited several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Smart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hedrick of Haldane are guests this week at the home of Mrs. Ida Batchelor.

Private George Bowers of Compton, California, enjoyed a furlough the past week at the home of his uncle, C. W. Bowers.

Second Lieutenant Paul Glenn enjoyed a short furlough the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Glenn. Lieut. Glenn has been assigned to combat work with a bombardment squadron of the 3rd Air Force at Key Field, Meridian, Mississippi.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hamel had as their guest over the week end their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Owen Hamel of Chicago.

Robert Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Calhoun, who has enlisted in the United States Navy, left on Tuesday to assume his duties.

OPA Men That Engage in Political Activity Will Be Dismissed

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced that OPA employees who engage in political activity would be dismissed.

"No one in the OPA organization is going to be permitted to play politics with the war effort," Henderson asserted, in an administrative order reminding his staff of its obligations under the Hatch Act which prohibits government workers from taking active part in political management or political campaigns.

Failure to comply strictly with the terms of the law will mean instant dismissal, he said.

"As the focal point of contact between OPA and the public, the volunteer members of our war price and rationing boards must be above suspicion," the order continued.

Strike at National Stockyards Is Over

National Stockyards, Ill., July 16—(AP)—The War Labor Board has taken jurisdiction at the National Stockyards and a two-day strike of 350 union livestock handlers was over.

The strikers were back at work along with 600 employers of packing houses who were laid off when no animals could be slaughtered or delivered.

"It's all over," said Paul Jackson, secretary-treasurer of the AFL union, of the strike which started because of a wage dispute, "and we'll continue normal operation and handle anything that comes in."

The union was asking for an 11-cent an hour increase in wages. A contract which expired June 8 provided for wages of from 41 to 80 cents an hour.

Dispute Over Oil Well Spacing to Be Settled

Washington, July 16—(AP)—A long-brewing dispute over the spacing of oil wells may be settled without an open senate fight, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said today.

Lucas is sponsor of an amendment to the $93,000,000 Florida barge canal-pipeline bill which would prohibit the Petroleum Coordinator's office from restricting the drilling of shallow wells of 3, 300 feet or under "until the shortage of petroleum products on the eastern coast has been overcome and restrictions upon deliveries and sales removed".

Atty. Gen. Barrett Makes New Charges Against U. I. Board

Declines to Appear Before Advisory Body of University

Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—The six-month-old controversy between Attorney General George F. Barrett and the University of Illinois was stirred today by additional charges hurled at school officials. The attorney general in a letter last night declined to appear before the university's advisory committee to air recent charges that the school's administrative branch was "shot through and through with politics."

In his letter to the committee's chairman, Benjamin F. Affleck, Barrett declared:

1. That University President Arthur C. Cullum had been receiving $3,800 as assistant to the Illinois Director of the Office of Government Relations.
2. That Homer Mat Adams, a university trustee, had been receiving $3,800 as assistant to the Illinois Director of the Office of Government Relations.
3. That Adams had been receiving $3,800 as assistant to the Illinois Director of the Office of Government Relations.

Barrett's attack on Adams was similar to the one on Svenbjorn Johnson, who the attorney general said "illegally" held the position of state director of OGR while serving as university counsel. An OGR spokesman reported Tuesday night Johnson had resigned his federal position.

Johnson, however, declared last night he had not resigned because of Barrett's charges, but said the Office of War Information was taking over the work of the OGR.

Johnson Denies Resignation

"Reports that I have resigned are incorrect," Johnson asserted. "The position of state director has been abolished and the Chicago OGR office is to be closed."

Barrett in his letter said "it is obvious that the advisory committee is in no position to conduct a fair and impartial investigation of the matters in controversy."

He declared that while he had

"great respect for the integrity" of many of the advisory committee members, the committee's purpose was to "whitewash the actions of President Arthur C. Cullum and other Democratic members of the board of trustees."

The university board of trustees, which asked the advisory committee to investigate Barrett's charges June 20, also requested five educational agencies to determine the "truth or falsity" of the politics charges and "to report to the public" on their findings.

Barrett asserted three members of the advisory committee, Merle J. Trees, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb and Oscar Mayer, were trustees when the questions in dispute arose, and that another member, Walter Fisher, was attorney for Johnson.

"I am reliably informed," he said, "that the real purpose for the appointment of the advisory committee was Willard's desire to use it as a vehicle for a draft movement to retain him as president when he reaches the retirement age of 65 next year."

Barrett said Trustee Adams was in charge of the OGR office in Springfield, and added:

"After discovering that Adams was on the federal payroll it becomes obvious why the Democratic members of the board fought so furiously to hold Johnson. They were, in fact, holding in contact a vicious circle. They were fighting to maintain the two-job system for Johnson and thus protect a payroll for a fellow trustee, and they were working under orders from the Democratic machine in Illinois to protect both Johnson's and Adams' jobs as Democratic patronage."

Adams, 31, who was elected trustee in 1936 and has been president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, said he had been manager of the Springfield OGR office since Feb. 2 at the salary Barrett stated, but he asserted he has no other source of income as he receives only expenses for acting as trustee and has not been active in his law practice. He said he did not plan to resign his OGR post and did not know what his status would be when the Office of War Information completes its absorption of OGR.

Farm WAR NEWS

New Salvage Campaign Reaches

Rural Areas: A new and greatly intensified Nation-wide salvage campaign program starts Monday, July 13. This drive will reach into the scrap heaps of every farm and into the waste fats of the kitchens. The campaign will have three integrated parts: (1) Collection of scrap metals, especially iron, steel and rubber; (2) a waste fats campaign; and (3) a tin can collection drive only in selected areas. This drive will get under way in the south and work north and will be timed to take place before the harvest season.

Farmers who want these bins should get in touch with their AAA committee. A limited number is to be had.

Estimates from both national and state USDA representatives indicate that more pigs will be raised this year than any other year on record. Sec. Wickard announced recently that the production this year will probably be about 105 million head. Lee M. Gentry, State USDA War Board Chairman says that Illinois farmers will raise over nine million head or about one-twelfth of the nation's total. Department officials remind us though that the supplies of pork will not be as large as might be indicated. Lend-lease and army requirements are moving large quantities of meat products out of commercial channels. However, there will be sufficient for necessary civilian consumption.

Most Americans need no other inducement except their appetites when it comes to fried chicken. But this year the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture says we should eat more fried chicken than ever because it's the patriotic thing to do. Sugar is rationed and there are shortages of tea and coffee. Folks will be glad to know that there are some things that are available in abundance...that are so plentiful, in fact that the government is sponsoring a campaign to get us to eat more of them. These abundant foods are designated "victory food specials" by the United States Dept. of Agriculture. Fryers and broilers are "victory food specials" for the period from July 16 through July 25. Around that time they are expected to come to market in large quantities and be priced reasonably. Housewives who buy these specials will be saving money and helping to conserve other scarce foods. Other "victory food specials" will be designated from time to time.

Notes from USDA War Letter: Charges for services rendered on a farm in connection with the planting, cultivating, or harvesting of crops the raising of livestock or poultry, or preparation of livestock products for market have been freed from price ceilings by OPA. The farm services excepted are primarily seasonal services. Many were not performed in March, the base price fixing period, and many others are services customarily performed by one farmer for another. Difficulty of determining the ceilings and danger of spoilage of crops made the exception necessary. The maximum price regulations still apply to services performed by commercial operators off a farm, such as butchering of livestock at a commercial plant, and grinding or milling of grain by commercial operators off a farm. Services performed on farm buildings—such as re-roofing a barn, the repair of plumbing in a farm house, or repair of machinery are all subject to price ceilings.

Fruit growers are warned by the WPB that burning of old or cut-up trees to prevent frost damage in fruits or citrus groves is prohibited by WPB regulations. A supplementary order contains a general ban on the destruction of certain rubber products except where essential to manufacturing or reclaiming operations.

Government is to take more of fruit and vegetable pack than at first intended, according to an order by WPB. Larger supplies of the 23 items already listed are to be taken and pineapple juice is added to the list. Exceptions are asparagus, peaches, carrots and spinach.

AAA and USDA War Board News
Lee county's wheat allotment has been set at 5124 acres. This compares with 5254 acres allotted farmers of this county in 1942. The reason for his decrease in wheat allotment for Lee county is that AAA has reduced allotments in counties where farmers have been gradually changing from wheat production to the growing of other crops. Allotments were increased in other counties where the opposite trend was observed. This helps accomplish the Agriculture Department's aim of encouraging conversion from wheat to more urgently needed crops. U. S. has plenty of wheat and could sustain a general reduction of wheat production, thus making way for more war crops like soybeans. However, the allotments have been cut nationally to 55,000,000 the minimum set by law, and any further reduction would require new legislation.

Wooden storage bins, built for the Commodity Credit Corporation, are offered for sale to farmers to help relieve the shortage on farm labor. Farmers have their choice of three types of bins. One holds 1,590 bushels of grain and sells at $190. Another type has a capacity of 1,610 bushels and costs $218. Besides the slight difference in size, the more expensive bin is prefabricated, and the cheaper bin is merely pre-cut—that is, the lumber is cut in the right lengths. Another prefabricated bin costing $285, has room for 2,250 bushels. All material for erection are included except blocks for bases. They are unpainted.
